5th Young Researchers Meeting ENMIX – YRM 2018

September 28th, 2018 – Valencia, Spain

The ENMIX Young Researchers met at September 28th, 2018 at the Instituto de Tecnología Química, ITQ in Valencia, Spain. The focus of the ENMIX Young Researcher Division is to promote integration of young scientists, to increase mobility between the partners, to reinforce the scientific communication and to get the young researchers to know each other. Round table discussions are common, in which people with similar interests can discuss with each other on further and future collaborations. Together we think of possible solutions for the problems we are dealing with in our research. Furthermore, we talk about issues related to going abroad for a longer period during our PhD or Postdocs.

Agenda

The 5th Young Researchers Meeting brought together PhD students representing groups from Alicante, Antwerp, Stuttgart and Valencia. After a general introduction and a tour of the ITQ, the scientists presented the results. After the presentations, there was extensive discussion and a successful search for solutions and support.

Outcomes

Due to the small size of the meeting, the discussions and conversations were very fruitful. The scientific exchange of doctoral students from different nations helped to look at questions from a different perspective and to consider new approaches. The assembly of common measurement and analysis methods of the ENMIX partners is vast and the official channels short, which makes a great improvement for the PhD students which need external techniques. The next ENMIX Young Researchers Meeting will take place in Rome, Italy, together with the ENMIX Workshop.

The organizing committee would like to thank all the participants for their contribution to this fruitful meeting.
